Big in Japan: DYNACORD Cobra rocks Metamorphose Festival

At this year's Metamorphose Festival in Izu City, Japan, Ortofon relied on a DYNACORD Cobra Line Array System to provide perfect sound for headliners including The Flaming Lips and Tortoise.

Japan/Straubing, October 2008 The night between August 23rd and August 24th was a long one in Izu City, Japan, marking the occasion of Metamorphose, the country's biggest all-night music festival. More than 30 acts – mostly electronica – performed on three main stages and several smaller stages. Headliners were The Flaming Lips, Tortoise, and DJ Krush.

The challenge for Ortofon's team? Provide 25,000 fans with the ultimate in high resolution, high volume sound all night long. Armed with systems from DYNACORD, including a Cobra line-array system, this wasn't a problem.

Mayuri Akama, founder and promoter of Metamorphose was extremely happy with the event: „We get more global feedback every year, and that's why we put a more global emphasis on the line-up for 2008. It's not just electronica anymore; we also have jazz, world music, and rock acts performing.“ This diversity of styles was another challenge for Ortofon, but, as Akama says: „No matter where you were or who was on stage, the sound was excellent all the time.“

About Metamorphose

Founded in 1999, the Metamorphose Festival is now one of the most important live events on the global festival scene. The 15-hour music marathon convinces with premium live acts, gorgeous location, and impeccable organisation. Music ranges from electronica to jazz to world music.
